Books at Iowa is published twice a year by the Friends of The University of Iowa Libraries, Iowa City. Editorial correspondence should be sent to Warner Barnes, Department of English; business correspondence should be sent to Dale M. Bentz, University Libraries.

On the front cover is an engraving from the first edition of The Adventures of Tom Sawyer showing Tom and a certain innocent whitewashing a fence. The University of Iowa's copy of this novel is a rare association item, for it was presented by Mark Twain to his daughter Clara. For a discussion of the bibliographical problems of this book and others by the author, see William B. Todd's article in this issue.
